Parties and Agreement. This Agreement is between Short Term Storage LLC, trading as Purplebox Moving (“Company”), and the customer named above (“Customer”). It includes the confirmed quotation/booking, this Agreement, and Appendix A (Photo Inventory & Scope of Work). If the move includes storage, the Company’s separate storage agreement also applies to the storage period.

1. Scope Based on Customer Disclosure

The quotation is based on the photographs/videos, item list, addresses, floor levels, access details and other information supplied by the Customer before booking. Appendix A forms part of this Agreement. Only items and services reasonably identifiable from that disclosed scope are included unless the Company confirms otherwise in writing.

If, on the moving day, the actual scope is materially different — including additional items, larger/heavier items, extra packing, dismantling/reassembly, stairs, long carrying distance, restricted access, unavailable lifts, multiple trips, additional stops, or other undisclosed conditions — the Company may revise the price, crew, vehicle requirement and/or completion time. Additional work will be performed only after the Customer or authorized representative accepts the revised scope and charges.

If agreement cannot be reached, the Company may complete only the original agreed scope or stop/postpone the service, with charges payable for work, travel, labour and resources already committed.

2. Customer Responsibilities: Access, Permits and Readiness

The Customer must obtain and maintain all move-in/move-out permits, building/community approvals, security clearances, loading permissions, parking arrangements and service-lift bookings required at the pickup and delivery locations, unless the quotation expressly states that the Company will arrange a specific item.

The Customer must ensure safe and lawful access at the agreed time, including elevator availability, adequate parking/loading access and a clear path for the crew. The Customer must disclose building restrictions, time windows, stair access, narrow doors/corridors, long walking distances, loading-bay limits or other conditions that may affect the move. Any delay, waiting time, return trip, parking fee, access charge or extra labour caused by missing/incorrect information or unavailable access may be charged additionally.

3. Customer Presence and Instructions

The Customer, or an adult representative authorized by the Customer, must be available at pickup and delivery to identify items, give instructions, approve scope changes and confirm completion. Instructions given by the authorized representative will be treated as instructions from the Customer. The Customer must identify items not to be moved and keep children, pets and unsafe obstructions away from the working area.

4. Packing, Dismantling and Special Items

The Company will provide only the packing, unpacking, dismantling and reassembly services included in the quotation. Appliances must be disconnected, drained and prepared before the move unless reconnection/disconnection is specifically included. The Company may refuse to move an item where it reasonably considers the item, access route or requested method unsafe or likely to cause damage.

The Customer must disclose fragile, unusually valuable, oversized, heavy, delicate or technically sensitive items before quotation (for example artwork, antiques, marble/glass items, safes, pianos or specialist equipment) so that appropriate handling and pricing can be agreed.

5. Items the Company Will Not Carry

The Customer must not tender illegal goods, hazardous or flammable materials, explosives, gas cylinders, leaking liquids, perishable goods requiring temperature control, live animals, or any item that cannot lawfully or safely be transported. Cash, jewellery, precious metals, passports, identity documents, securities, medications, keys and other high-value personal documents/items should remain in the Customer's possession unless the Company expressly agrees otherwise in writing.

6. Existing Condition and Photo Record

The Company and/or Customer may photograph or video items, access routes and relevant property areas before, during and after the move for inventory, condition, quality-control, claim-handling and contract-administration purposes. Visible pre-existing damage, weakness, poor construction, wear, scratches, stains or defects may be recorded. Customer-provided photos and Company records may be relied upon when assessing the agreed scope or any later damage claim.

7. Care of Goods and Damage

The Company will exercise reasonable care in packing, handling and transportation. Where loss of or physical damage to an item is supported by sufficient evidence and is determined to have been caused by the Company during the contracted service, the Company may settle eligible damage directly up to a maximum of AED 500 per move/incident. Any eligible claim above AED 500 must be submitted to the applicable insurance company and will be handled in accordance with the insurer's policy terms, evidence requirements, exclusions, excess/deductible and claims procedure. The Customer agrees to reasonably cooperate with the insurance claim process and provide requested photographs, receipts, proof of ownership/value and other supporting evidence. Nothing in this clause limits any liability or consumer right that cannot lawfully be limited under UAE law.

The Company is not responsible for pre-existing damage; ordinary wear and tear; inherent defects or fragility; internal/mechanical/electrical failure where there is no evidence of external physical impact; damage to Customer-packed items caused by inadequate packing; or loss/damage caused by circumstances outside the Company's reasonable control, except to the extent liability cannot lawfully be excluded.

8. Property Damage

The Company will take reasonable care to avoid damage to the Customer's premises and common areas while carrying out the move. The Customer must point out fragile finishes, recently painted areas, weak fixtures, restricted surfaces or any special building requirements before work starts. Any claim relating to property damage must identify the affected area and be supported by reasonable evidence of condition before and after the move.

9. Claims Procedure

The Customer should inspect items and the premises as soon as reasonably practicable after delivery. Visible loss or damage should be reported to the crew before departure where possible and, in all cases, notified to the Company in writing as soon as reasonably practicable with photographs and details sufficient to investigate the claim. Nothing in this clause removes any mandatory consumer right or legal remedy available to the Customer under UAE law.

10. Timing, Delays and Waiting

Scheduled times are estimates and may be affected by traffic, security procedures, elevator availability, building restrictions or other circumstances. The Company will use reasonable efforts to perform the service on the agreed date and within the expected period but does not guarantee an exact completion time unless expressly agreed in writing.

Where the crew is delayed because the Customer, building management, permits, access, keys, lifts, parking/loading arrangements or property readiness are not available at the agreed start time, waiting charges will apply at AED 50 per hour for each crew member waiting, plus AED 100 per hour for the assigned truck. Waiting time is calculated from the time the crew is ready to commence work until the obstruction or delay is resolved. Delays caused solely by the Company will not attract Customer waiting charges.

11. Price, Payment and Additional Charges

The Customer must pay the price and payment schedule stated in the confirmed quotation/booking. Unless the quotation states otherwise, 50% is payable to confirm the booking and the remaining 50% is payable on the moving day in accordance with the Company's payment instructions.

Additional charges may apply where reasonably connected to a scope change or condition not included in the original quotation. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the following rates apply: additional workers – AED 100 per person for each block of up to 2 hours; additional truck – AED 500 per additional truck required; additional moving boxes – AED 14 per box; Customer-caused waiting – AED 50 per hour per waiting crew member plus AED 100 per hour for the truck; and additional wrapping or protective material – the charge will be assessed by the Moving Coordinator based on the material reasonably required and communicated to the Customer before the additional material is used whenever practicable. Other third-party or unusual charges, including parking, access fees, specialist handling or extra trips, may also be added where applicable and should be communicated before the additional work is performed whenever reasonably possible.

12. Rescheduling and Cancellation

The Customer must notify the Company promptly of any requested cancellation or rescheduling. A cancellation fee of AED 500 applies when the Customer cancels a confirmed booking, except where applicable law requires otherwise or the Company agrees to waive the fee in writing. Any rescheduling fee or other booking condition must be disclosed to the Customer before it applies. If the Company must postpone because of vehicle breakdown, safety concerns or circumstances outside its reasonable control, it will offer a reasonable alternative arrangement or appropriate refund/credit for services not performed, subject to applicable law.

13. Storage-Related Moves

For a Home-to-Storage move, the moving service ends when the items are checked into the agreed storage location in accordance with the applicable storage process. For a Storage-to-Home move, the Customer must confirm the requested inventory/release details and delivery address in advance. Any storage fees, storage access rules, release conditions and storage-related rights/obligations are governed by the separate storage agreement and account status.

14. Data and Communications

The Customer authorizes the Company to use the contact details, photographs, videos, inventory information and location/access details reasonably required to quote, schedule, perform, document and administer the move, handle claims and comply with legal or insurance requirements. The Company will process personal data in accordance with applicable UAE data-protection requirements. Operational communications and approvals may be exchanged by email, SMS, WhatsApp, the Company's app or other agreed electronic channel.

15. Governing Law and Disputes

This Agreement is governed by the laws of the United Arab Emirates as applicable in the Emirate of Dubai. The parties should first attempt in good faith to resolve any complaint directly. This does not prevent the Customer from exercising any right to approach the competent consumer-protection authority or courts. The courts of Dubai will have jurisdiction, subject to any mandatory jurisdictional rule.

16. Entire Agreement and Acceptance

The confirmed quotation/booking, this Agreement, Appendix A and any written variation accepted by the parties form the agreement for the moving service. If a term conflicts with a mandatory provision of UAE law, that mandatory provision will prevail and the remaining terms will continue to apply to the extent lawful.

By signing or electronically accepting the booking, the Customer confirms that the information supplied for quotation is complete and accurate to the best of their knowledge and that they understand that material differences in scope may change the price, resources or schedule.
